

CAN YOU RECOGNIZE YOUR CYBER RISKS?

Your Risks Grow Daily

The introduction of smartphone technology just ten years ago has led computer, network, and personal devices to interact in more ways than ever imagined. Given the ever-changing pace of technology, there are few companies that can keep up on their own. Financial institutions are especially challenged to ensure cyber resilience, due to the extensive use of technology in core business operations. It's no surprise many credit unions aren't confident they are optimally managing their cybersecurity risks.

Get an Outside Perspective

The most secure facilities in the world use highly-skilled outsiders to assess their true exposure to cyber attacks. Redstone Consulting Group® can ensure your organization understands the risks it faces and has a plan for remediating those gaps. Our realistic and unbiased assessments will help you identify the real threats you must address with your limited resources. Our Cybersecurity Risk Assessment services include:

- ❖ Your documentation framework to preliminarily assess your documented controls security preparedness.
- ❖ An on-site cybersecurity gap analysis that reviews your security posture against the cybersecurity controls applicable to most credit unions.
- ❖ A plan of action and milestones to mitigate any gaps in compliance as versus industry cybersecurity standards.
- ❖ An out-brief presentation to stakeholders and executives that describes uncovered risks, mitigation next steps, recommendations, and ongoing support options.
